

Abstract of the Disclosure

The present invention provides compositions and methods for immersion depositing highly adherent silver layers. The compositions contain silver ions, water and a carboxylic acid-substituted nitrogen-containing heterocyclic compound. Such compositions and methods are particularly useful in the manufacture of electronic devices.